

MN Business Partnership - Who they are and who they support

First, they discouraged people from promoting a former Trump appointee as a candidate for Minneapolis mayor . Research on the campaign contributors to Tina Smith's Senate campaign shows that their campaign raised something like $25 million to trounce Jason Lewis. You know Tina Smith's main claim to fame was serving as Mark Dayton's lieutenant governor, and previously serving as president of Planned Parenthood of Minnesota.

Of the 20 leading contributors to the Smith campaign, 12 of them were leading members of - you guessed it - the Minnesota Business Partnership. Those 12 were 3M; Medtronic; Wells Fargo; United Health Group; General Mills; US Bancorp; Ecolab; Comcast; Mayo Clinic; Blue Cross/Blue Shield; Schwann's; and Dorsey & Whitney (law firm). Remember these names when you do business. Nero fiddled while Rome burned.

https://leohohmann.com/2021/05/07/they-are-coming-for-your-kids-globalists-launch-all-out-assault-on-children/?fbclid=IwAR2lu7dC2HPqXbYYRnyN_Lb-QyZyAMLTk0eNKq57w-0IyR-cdGsQNqf5s6k#more-6358